ROAD CONSTRUCTION UPDATE!!

Ross Avenue Bridge Construction on Schedule

The first half of the bridge and concrete work (bridge approach) has been completed. Emergency vehicles have continued to have access on the second half of the bridge. On Thursday, 06/24/10 you may have noticed no construction activity occurring. This was a "cure" day for the first half of the concrete work. On Friday, 06/25/10, the crew will be working on preparing the second half of the bridge and getting it ready for Monday's concrete pour. At this time, the first half of the bridge will now be accessible for emergency vehicles. The project is currently on schedule and if the weather holds up, here will be next week's schedule:

06/28/10 (Monday) = Second half of concrete work (bridge approach) will get poured.

06/29/10 (Tuesday) = Cure day for the second half of the concrete work (no construction activity will be noticed).

06/30/10 (Wednesday) = Asphalt will now get placed by the bridge (from bridge approach south).

07/01/10 (Thursday) = Striping will be painted.

07/02/10 (Friday) = Unless delays occur on previous day's work, the bridge should be open by noon.
